LOCAL MATTERS.

THE TROUBLES OF AN ITALIAN WIDOW.—Yesterday morning Ceymonaldi Nardi, an Italian carpenter, was before the Police Court charged with trespassing upon the premises of and abusing and threatening Mrs. Mary Baccigalupo.

Ceymonaldi has been going some carpenter's work at Mrs. Baccigalupo's store, at the Union depot. It seems that the accused became enamored of her. He made promises to the Italian widow, who refused to smile upon him. This greatly enraged Ceymonaldi, and caused him to make violent threats.

It will be remembered, is the wife of Angelo Baccigalupo, who was conveyed to the penitentiary Tuesday to serve a term of eight years for attempting to murder her with a knife. She has been married twice, and at court yesterday stated that she had passed through many hardships, and that she had no money to protect her except the laws of this country. Fearing that Nardi would, like Angelo, attempt to kill her, she had him arrested.

Justice White required him to give security in the sum of $200 for six months that he would not interfere with the widow. C. Salomone became surety for Nardi.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.
OFFICE AUDITOR PUBLIC ACCOUNTS,
RICHMOND, FEBRUARY 18, 1880.

To the Hon. B. W. Lacy, Speaker of the House of Delegates:

Sir,—On the 17th of December last your honorable body adopted a resolution calling upon me as auditor to furnish a "statement of the standing and condition of the accounts of the treasurer of each county and corporation of the State up to the 1st of December, 1879."

As no response was made to this resolution by my predecessor, I commenced as soon as practicable after assuming the duties of my office the preparation of the statement called for, and was soon prepared to make a report as could be made from the books in the Auditor's office. In the mean time I had addressed a circular to each county and city treasurer calling upon him to make monthly reports and settlements of his collections. This brought me into immediate communication with all these treasurers. From information obtained from them I became satisfied that the publication of the statement which had been prepared from the books of my office would do justice and harm to many of them by showing incorrect balances against them, when credits to which they were entitled would, if properly given, greatly reduce those balances in some cases and leave none in others.

I therefore deemed it my duty to delay this report until I could give the account of each treasurer a careful examination, and satisfy myself that he had received every credit that he was entitled to which the means at my command would enable me to give.

Some who would have been reported as in arrears have shown by satisfactory evidence that they would have been improperly so reported. Others have materially reduced their indebtedness by payments. The payments into the Treasury from these have aggregated about $25,000 since my call upon them. A goodly number have not sent in their delinquent and insolvent lists, as the law requires, and have not, therefore, been credited by them. Where this is the case I have made a note of explanation opposite their names, under the head of "Remarks."

I shall deem it my duty to require full reports and correct settlements from each treasurer in the Commonwealth.

At first blush this may sound harsh and unkind, but it will require but little reflection to satisfy any business-man that such a course is not only due to the State and to the sureties of the treasurers, but to the treasurers themselves, and will, in the end, prove to be the kindest course which can be adopted, as well as the most business-like.

Hoping my reasons for tardiness may be satisfactory, I have the honor to submit the following statement.

Very respectfully,
JOHN E. MASON,
Auditor of Public Accounts.

We omit names and details. The following is the recapitulation:
